Michael Rowe
President &
Chief Operating Officer

Michael Rowe was named the team's President and Chief Operating Officer on October 18, 1995 when Nets ownership hired the Executive Vice President of the Meadowlands Arena and Giants Stadium. Rowe has been working with the franchise since it moved to the Meadowlands in 1981, and has a close relationship with the organization since assuming the role of Arena General Manager in 1987.

Rowe's responsibilities have him overseeing both the Nets business operations as well as basketball operations. With his previous successes at the Sports Complex, he becomes a valuable asset and resource for the entire Nets staff. Under Rowe's leadership at the Meadowlands a number of firsts were achieved.

Both the arena and stadium have received numerous industry awards including a record eight "Arena of the Year" awards and six "Stadium of the Year" awards. He also directed the complex to some impressive attendance marks. In 1994, both the arena and stadium saw 5.59 million people come through the turnstiles—a complex record. Since 1988, at least four million people a year have attended various events at both facilities.

Rowe over saw the operations of Giants Stadium, the only facility in the country to have two NFL franchises. The stadium also hosts all of the major outdoor concert events. In 1994, seven World Cup soccer matches were held at the stadium and it was the only site to earn in excess of $1 million in event income.

The Arena hosts a wide variety of events besides professional basketball and hockey, including concerts and family entertainment such as the circus and ice shows. Rowe led the negotiations to bring the NCAA Final Four, college basketball's premiere event, to the Meadowlands Arena in 1996.

Rowe brings a tremendous financial background that will provide the Nets with strong leadership in dealing with the NBA's salary cap, as well as broadcast and arena negotiations. He is credited with raising operating profits 230 percent for the Sports Complex from $5.7 million in 1986 to $18.9 million in 1994, including a 77 percent increase over 1993 ($10.66 million).

He is a graduate of Seton Hall and received and M.A. from Rider University. Michael, his wife Connie, and their two daughters Allyson and Lisa, reside in Cranbury.

Willis Reed
Executive Vice President
General Manager

Entering his seventh season running the basketball operations for the New Jersey Nets, Willis Reed continues to build on a reputation that began during a stellar college career, a Hall of Fame professional playing career and now continued success at the upper management level in the NBA.

Reed once again has faced challenges this off season as the Nets look to rebound from their first year without post-season action in four years. The Nets suffered through an injury plagued 94-95 campaign and are looking once again to return to the playoffs. Reed took the Nets closer to that goal during the 1995 NBA Draft when he made College Player of the Year Ed O'Bannon of National Champion UCLA the number nine pick in the draft.

Reed has stepped up to this challenge with his normal skill, displaying the talents that have made him a force in the NBA since his playing days. As Executive Vice President of Basketball Operations and General Manager, Reed has assembled a club that has grown over the past three seasons, and is poised to continue that growth this year.

Reed has shown an ability to sense the needs of the club and fill them since moving to the front office after leading the Nets from the bench in 1988-89. He wasted no time in pointing the future direction of the club as one of his first moves was to select Derrick Coleman of Syracuse with the first selection in the 1990 NBA Draft. Coleman won the Rookie of the Year Award in 1990 and Reed has seen his game develop to the point of All-NBA and All-Star status.

Each year, Reed has added pieces to the puzzle designed to produce consistent winners in the Garden State. The signing of Coleman and the 1991 drafting of All-Star Kenny Anderson and this year selection of O'Bannon demonstrate the commitment to winning that starts with Willis Reed. What else would you expect from a Hall of Famer who as a player was named MVP in the Regular Season, All-

Star game and the playoffs, all in one season.

Reed led the New York Knicks to two NBA titles in a career that spanned 10 seasons. He started off his playing days by being named Rookie of the Year in 1965 and had his place in history secured when he was named to the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 1981.

Reed's coaching career began in 1977 when he led the Knicks to a 43-39 mark and a playoff berth. He spent one season as an assistant to Lou Carnesecca at St. John's before taking over the helm at Creighton University. Reed came back to the NBA in 1985 as an assistant with the Atlanta Hawks and made his way through Sacramento before coming to the Nets as Head Coach in 1988.

Reed is a tireless worker, continually speaking to coaches around the world in search of players who will help put the Nets over the top. In addition, he devotes much of his time to speaking within the community, talking about basketball, the positive benefits of education and the evils of drugs and alcohol. "One can never lose sight of where one's been or what they're doing," he said. "Our business impacts so many people of all ages and walks of life, that I enjoy getting out and spending time with the children and supporters who follow the Nets."

He has demonstrated this concern by testifying before a Senate subcommittee about concerns with the current education system in the United States and the importance of quality education in molding young Americans' lives.

Reed is a native of Bernice, Louisiana and attended Grambling University, leading his club to the NAIA Championship in 1961. He and his wife Gale reside in West Orange.

Butch Beard
Head Coach

Butch Beard enters his second season as the head man on the Nets bench hoping for a healthier year. As a rookie head coach, Beard enjoyed the highs of two wins versus Orlando and beating the Knicks at the Garden. Those highs were offset by a season ending injury to Kevin Edwards and the loss of Derrick Coleman and Kenny Anderson for a combined 36 games. Beard goes into his second campaign more familiar with his team and very happy with the addition of rookie Ed O'Bannon.

Beard spent nine years in the NBA as a player, with the highlight of his career coming in the 75-76 season when he was the point guard for the World Champion Golden State Warriors. Beard finished his playing career with the New York Knicks where his head coach was current Net General Manager Willis Reed.

This is Beard's second stint on the Net bench. He served as an assisant to both Willis Reed and Bill Fitch prior to taking the head job at Howard University, where he led that school to an NCAA berth.

Beard was known as a hard working and thinking player, traits he has continued as a head coach. He and his coaching staff have spent countless hours watching game films and developing practice plans for the upcoming season.

Beard was a star on the collegiate level as a player at Louisville, where he was a consensus All-American after posting a career scoring average of 19.0 ppg.

He was selected in the first round of the 1969 NBA Draft by Atlanta and played with Cleveland, Seattle, Golden State and New York during his career. He was named to the NBA All-Star team in 1972.

Following his playing career Beard moved to the coaching ranks where he assisted legendary Knicks coach Red Holzman for four years. Before moving accross the river to assist Reed with the Nets, Beard spent time as an analyst for both Madison Square Garden Network broadcasts of Knick games and Atlanta Hawks broadcasts on TBS.

The lure of coaching brought Reed and Beard back together as Beard spent two years as an assistant with the Nets, one working with Reed and one with Bill Fitch when Reed became General Manager of the Nets.

In 1990 Howard University was looking for a coach to replace A.B. Williamson, who had been at the school for 15 years.

Feeling the time was right for a top job, Beard accepted the position in June of 1990 and spent four years at the helm of the Bison program.

Beard's shining moment at Howard came in the 1991-92 season when he was named MEAC Coach of the Year after leading his club to both the regular season and post-season tournament titles and a birth in the NCAA Tournament.

Beard and his wife Ruth have four children: Alfred III, Cory, Samantha and Ian. Cory begins training camp as a guard on the Nets roster.

Stan Albeck
Assistant Coach

Net fans should be happy to know that Stan has not changed. He is definitely wiser and he is ready to roll out the ball again to work with the New Jersey Nets. Stan will join Coach Beard as his number one assistant.

There is quite a bit of coaching experience in Stan's portfolio. He has been an NBA head coach for Cleveland, San Antonio, New Jersey, and Chicago. He has been named "Coach of the Year" while with the Spurs and took that franchise to the Conference Finals twice. But the moment most Nets' fans will remember is Stan guiding New Jersey to an upset of the reigning NBA Champion Philadelphia 76ers in the first round of the 1983-84 NBA Playoffs. In a thrilling five game series, Albeck and the Nets pulled off the unimaginable by winning three games in Philly.

Stan is very confident person who freely shares his positive attitude. He is a hard worker, who expects his players to work hard. The Illinois native graduated from Bradley University in 1955 and has been coaching ever since. He has 19 years experience on the collegiate level alone.

His assistant coaching jobs in the ABA and the NBA have had him working under some legendary basketball names: Alex Hannum, Wilt Chamberlin, K C Jones, Hubie Brown, and Jerry West.

Stan in fact remembers his time in New Jersey so well he and his wife Phyllis are planning to move back to Little Ferry to the same complex. They have three sons and two daughters.

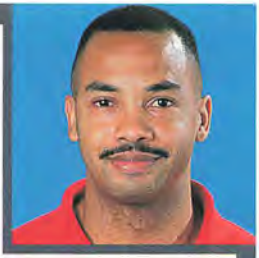
Jerry Eaves
Assistant Coach



Jerry Eaves enters his second season on the Nets coaching staff as the lone holdover from the group that assisted Butch Beard last season. Eaves split his initial NBA coaching stint on the Nets bench and serving as the clubs NBA advance scout.

His expanded duties this season will see him spend more time on the Nets bench and working with the clubs guards.

A four-year NBA playing career with stops in Utah, Atlanta and Sacramento prepared him for his current role of working with the Nets backcourt and scouting duties.

Eaves was a member of the Louisville Cardinals NCAA championship team in 1980 and was an All-American performer at the collegiate level. He was selected by Utah in the third round of the 1982 NBA draft and went on to average 9.3 points a game, scoring his career high 35 points 3/16/83 at Detroit.

Eaves served as a color commentator on Louisville television broadcasts in 1985 and has run the Jerry Eaves Basketball Camp in Louisville for over a decade.

A former Mr. Kentucky in basketball, the native of Louisville and his wife Sheila have a daughter and a son. Eaves also has a daughter, Lee Anne.

Clifford Ray
Assistant Coach

When you want a big man on the bench to coach and work on the development of big man, you look for a big man. Clifford Ray definitely fits in that category. The former NBA great will fill out Coach Beard's staff.

Clifford was drafted by the Chicago Bulls in 1971 in the third round. From there, he became a defensive force in the league starting in his first season when he was named the Rookie of the Year. Following three years in Chicago, he was traded to the Golden State Warriors, and had an immediate impact when his team won the NBA Championship in 1975.

Ray was born January 21, 1949 in Union, S.C. He played his college basketball at University of Oklahoma and was coached by former NBA coach John MacLeod. The past two seasons he has served as an assistant coach in the CBA with the Grand Rapid Mackers and the Fort Wayne Fury.

He has also spent six years as an assistant coach and had several special assignments with the Dallas Mavericks. Ray was assigned to work with the centers and forwards on the Mavs which included players such as James Donaldson, Herb Williams, Roy Tarpley, Detlef Schrempf and Sam Perkins. Clifford has also worked with Robert Parish, a future Hall of Famer, who backed up Ray at Golden St. and remains his best friend.

Clifford is an avid fisherman and hopes to make the Pro Bass Tour in the not too distant future. He also enjoys cooking and has participated in the Legends Classic at All-Star Weekend in the past.

Hal Wissel
Director of Player Personnel

With over 30 years of basketball experience behind him, Hal Wissel assumed the position of Director of Player Personnel for the Nets ready for action.

Wissel, who spent 20 as a head coach at the collegiate level compiling over 300 victories, has been with the Milwaukee Bucks for the last five years as a scout and special assignment coach.

Wissel will work with Willis Reed in coordination of the Nets various scouting functions at the collegiate and pro levels.

A Doctor of Physical Education, Wissel enjoyed his greatest coaching success at Florida Southern, where he led his club to three consecutive Division II Final Fours, was named National Coach of the Year and directed his club to the National Championship.

The founder of Basketball World, Inc., an instructional venture that runs camps and clinics, Wissel has been widely published. His Basketball: Steps to Success and Becoming a Basketball Player: Individual Drills are highly regarded instructional books.

A graduate of Springfield College, Wissel and his wife Trudy have five children, sons Steven, Scott, David and Paul and daughter Sharon.

Ted Arzonico
Trainer

Ted Arzonico is entering his fourth year as the athletic trainer of the New Jersey Nets and continues to direct the teams travel and lodging needs. Arzonico assumed the reins following the retirement of the Nets hall of fame trainer, Fritz Massman.

The New Jersey native administers to the immediate medical needs of the team's players. Most of his training time is spent in the area of preventive medicine- nutrition, treatment of injuries and ailments, rehabilitation as well as overseeing the Nets strength and conditioning program.

He is also responsible for the Nets air and ground transportation, as well as hotel accommodations while on the road. Ted even gets a shot at weather forecasting when it becomes time to make a decision on when to leave early, wait out a snow storm, or find emergency hotel rooms. Yes, he has heard from the pilots on the bench during games when he is trying to keep stats for the Coach.

Ted is a graduate of Tenafly High School and went on to Mitchell College in Connecticut where he was a scholarship soccer player. He finished his undergraduate work at Central Connecticut State University, where he received a BS in Physical Education. While at CCSU, he served as student trainer for the football, basketball, soccer, and baseball teams before going on to receive his Masters Degree in Sports Medicine from Springfield College.

Certified by the NATA (National Athletic Trainers Association), Arzonico was the head trainer for West Essex High School in Caldwell, N.J. and St. Thomas Aquinas College before coming to the Nets. He is an examiner for the NATA National Certification Test. In the summer of 1994, Arzonico received a great honor when he served as the Athletic Training Coordinator for the New Jersey/New York venue during the 1994 World Cup.

Arzonico is single and has become a fanatic on the water, since he discovered the world of waverunners. He also does well on the mountain trails with his bike, and makes a mean seafood pasta dish when he finds time in the kitchen.

Richard Snedaker
Strength and Conditioning Coach

Rich joined the Nets this summer as their Strength and Conditioning Coach and had a difficult go right from the start with the league labor strife. But Rich did not complain, he just went out and made sure the Nets were going to be ready to compete when the season was ready to begin.

He comes to the team with some impressive credentials and work experience. Most recently, Rich was a coach with the United States Bobsled Team. That comes into play when you consider some of the impressive and explosive athletes that he got to work with. The list includes people like Herschel Walker, Edwin Moses, and Willie Gault who are some of Americas fastest athletes.

Rich has is undergraduate degree from the University of Maryland and has completed course work on his Masters degree in Exercise Physiology at Maryland. He has been certified by several organizations including the National Strength and Conditioning Association, National Sports Performance Association, and the International Dance and Exercise Association.

His primary responsibilities with the Nets include flexibility, strength, and conditioning programs. Rich will coordinate rehabilitation programs as directed by the medical and training staffs. He will also design individual programs for the players for in season use as well as comprehensive off-season conditioning programs.

Rich resides in Westchester County which allows him to remain close to the ski areas and Winter Olympic sport training areas in Lake Placid, NY. His girlfriend, Darcy, fits right in with Rich's lifestyle and vocation as she is a world class athlete in her own right competing as a duathlete and is a 1996 Olympic hopeful.

On November 20, 1993, Orlando's Shaquille O'Neal became the first opponent in the Nets NBA history to record a triple-double that included blocked shots. Shaq attacked the Nets for 24 points, 28 rebounds and 15 blocks. O'Neal's triple-double was the first against the Nets in amost three seasons. Only one other blocked shot triple-double has been recorded in Nets history, that by the Nets George Johnson at New Orleans when he had 17 points, 13 rebounds and 12 blocks

On February 8, 1978, the Indiana Pacers lost to the Nets 140-138 in overtime at New Jersey. During the game the Pacers, whose squad had been reduced to 9 players in uniform by injury and illness, had five players foul out. The result of this was the use of a seldom used NBA rule. When Dan Roundfield became the fifth Pacer to foul out in the overtime period, he had to stay in the game as the Pacers had only four players left with fewer than six fouls. The Pacers were assesed a technical foul for having a player in the game who had fouled out. Each subsequent Pacer personal foul resulted in a technical foul.

On February 14, 1975 the Nets and the San Diego Conquistadors played the longest, the highest scoring and one of the most exciting games in ABA history. The game lasted 4 overtimes before San Diego pulled out a 176-166 win. The matchup featured 63 points from the Nets Julius Erving as Dr. J went 25-46 from the field. His teammate Brian Taylor chipped in with five 3-pointers and nine steals. The Nets as a team went 64-131 from the field.
Most of these are still Nets team records.

During the 1977-78 season, Nets guard Kevin Porter posted the five best and seven of the top nine assist games in New Jersey history. He also had the top four assist games in the NBA that year. Porter led the NBA in assists and his 801 are the most for a season in Nets history. To top it off, on February 24, 1978, Porter handed out 29 assists, breaking the 15 year old record for assists in a game of 28, shared by Bob Cousy and Guy Rodgers.

As far as can be determined, the first triple-double to be recorded in a New Jersey game was by Connie Hawkins of the Pittsburgh Pipers on December 19, 1967. The Hawk had 29 points, 12 rebounds and 11 assists as Pittsburgh crushed New Jersey 146-124 at Pittsburgh. Hawkins also recorded the first triple-double in a New Jersey home game when he had 32 points, 19 rebounds and 10 assists as the Pipers defeated New Jersey 124-119 on January 24, 1968. The first triple-double by a New Jersey player was recorded by Walt Simon, who had 24 points, 15 rebounds and 10 assists on February 12, 1968 as New Jersey defeated the New Orleans Bucaneers 118-109 at New Jersey.

During the 1973-74 season two players set all-time pro basketball records against the Nets. Ted McClain of the Carolina Cougars, coached by Larry Brown, on December 26, 1973 had 12 steals in the game at Raleigh Artis Gilmore on February 3, 1974 became the first player in almost five years to grab 40 rebounds in a game. He is also the last player to achieve that feat. However Gilmore, of the Kentucky Colonels, did not set a all-time record with that mark, but did by registering 34 defensive rebounds, the most ever since that statistic has been recorded.

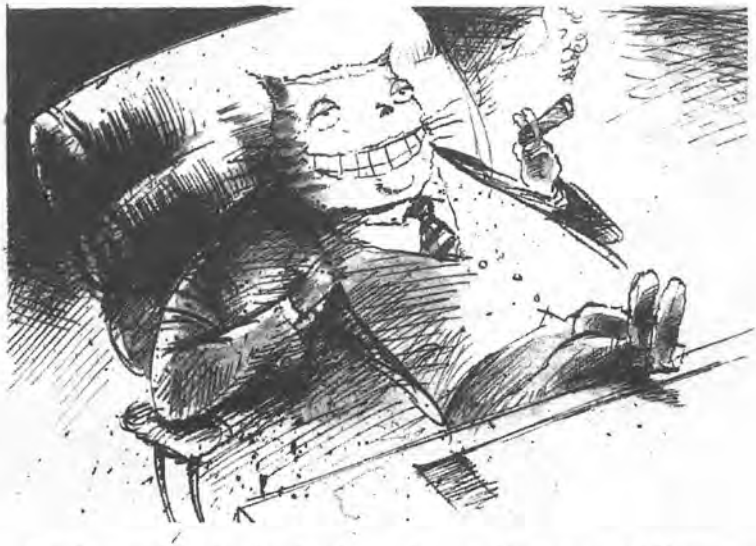
HOW DO YOU SEE THE HEALTH CARE CRISIS AFFECTING HEALTH INSURANCE COMPANIES?



One thing is sure: it hasn't reduced their appetites for profits. And this at a time when businesses all across New Jersey are struggling just to stay ahead of health care costs. If you're among them, you'll want to know about First Option Health Plan.

First Option's focus is on service to the businesses and citizens of our communities. That's becuase First Option is owned and operated by New Jersey's leading physicians and hospitals... nearly 9,000 physicians and respected institutions in all 21 counties participate. There is no insurance monolith to pay. Moreover, by dramatically reducing profit margins and administrative costs, we're able to offer premiums that will come as welcome relief to employers and employees alike.

To learn more of the important differences that have made First Option one of the fastest growing managed care companies in the nation, call 1-800-535-FOHP, or ask your physician about us.

Nets 1994-95 Season in Review

An injury plagued season resulted in the Nets missing out on post-season play for the first time in four years. Kenny Anderson and Derrick Coleman, All-Star starters in 1994 in Minnesota, combined to miss a total of 36 games. Guard Kevin Edwards, who started every game during the 1993-94 season, was limited to only 14 games.

That spate of injuries forced first year coach Butch Beard to utilize 23 different starting lineups, and in the end that added up to only 30 wins and a fifth place finish in the Atlantic Division.

Despite the Nets injury woes, several players still enjoyed good seasons. Sixth man Armon Gilliam was voted the team MVP after averaging 14.8 ppg and 7.5 rpg in 30.1 minutes per contest. Coleman, who played in 56 games, once again posted double-double averages in points (20.5) and rebounds (10.6), and Anderson, who appeared in 72 games, averaged 17.6 ppg and finished second in the NBA in assists with 9.4 per contest.

New Jersey was involved in 31 games decided by five points or less during the campaign and was unable to put together a winning streak of longer than three games.

The Nets struggles were especially apparent away from the Meadowlands where they posted only 10 wins.

While at home, New Jersey won 20 ball games and played in front of the largest average attendance in club history. For the fourth consecutive season, the Nets broke their all-time attendance record by attracting a total of 684,102 fans to the Meadowlands for an average of 16,685 per contest.

Two areas where the Nets continued to excel were blocked shots and rebounding as they ranked among the NBA's top three in each category by blocking 6.68 shots per contest and grabbing an averag of 46.1 caroms a game.

Final Record: 36-42 (.462)
Coach: Max Zaslofsky

Franchise known as the New Jersey Americans play their first game on October 23. Team finishes season tied for last playoff spot with the Kentucky Colonels. Nets forced to forfeit game due to unplayable floor in Commack Arena (Long Island). Circus in Armory prevented game from being played in Teaneck.

1968-69: New Jersey Americans become New York Nets
Team Name: New York Nets
Home Court: Commack Arena, Commack, N.Y.
Final Record: 17-61 (.218)

On July 15, franchise moves to Commack, Long Island, becoming the New York Nets. Bobby Lloyd of Rutgers hits 49 free throws in a row over a 13 game span for a new ABA record. Team is led in scoring by Walt Simon with 21.1 ppg.

1969-70: Roy Boe purchases New York ABA franchise on May 26
Final Record: 39-45 (.464)
Coach: York Larese

Team transfers operations to Island Garden, Hempstead, L.I. on October 17. York Larese signs one year contract to coach the Nets. Bill Melchionni lured from Philadelphia 76ers. 1967 first round draft choice Sonny Dove of St. John's joins the club. Levern Tart leads the Nets in scoring averaging 24.1 points per game. Nets attain playoffs for first time but fall in semi-final round to Kentucky Colonels 4 games to 3.

1970-71: Rick Barry to Nets from Virginia; St. John's Lou Carnesecca becomes Coach
Final Record: 40-44 (.476)
Coach: Lou Carnesecca

Rick Barry, who the Nets acquired from the Virginia Squires on September 2, averages 29.4 points a game and becomes the first Nets' player to be named to the ABA All-league team. Nets reach playoffs for second consecutive season, but fall to Virginia 4 games to 2 in the semi-final round.

1971-72: Nets advance to ABA Final Round
Home Court: Nassau Veterans Memorial Coliseum, Uniondale, L.I.
Final Record: 44-40 (.524)

Barry averages 31.5 points a game and, along with Bill Melchionni, is named to the ABA All-league team. On February 11, the team changes its home court again, this time to the brand new Nassau Veterans Memorial Coliseum. the Nets, after completing their first winning season, attain the playoffs for the third consecutive year. They defeat Kentucky 4-2 and Virginia 4-3 to capture their first Eastern Conference crown. Nets then lose the ABA Championship series to Indiana in six games.

1972-73: Court orders Barry to return to the NBA; Brian Taylor becomes first Net to win Rookie-of-the-Year honors
Final Record: 30-54 (.357)

Nets select and sign Princeton's Brian Taylor and Marquette's Jim Chones in the annual player draft. Taylor becomes ABA Rookie-of-the-Year and both men are named to the ABA All-Rookie Team. George Carter leads the team in scoring, averaging 19.0 points a game. Nets make playoffs for the fourth consecutive year but feel the loss of Barry as they fall to the Carolina Cougars 4 games to 1 in the opening round.

1973-74: Kevin Loughery signs as Nets coach; Nets acquire Dr. J and sign rookie Larry Kenon; Nets capture their first ABA Championship
Final Record: 55-29 (.655)
Coach: Kevin Loughery

Julius "Dr. J" Erving is traded to the Nets by Virginia on August 1 along with Willie Sojourner in exchange for George Carter, drafts rights to Kermit Washington, and cash. Erving averages 27.4 points per game in the regular season and 27.9 in the playoffs to lead the Nets to their first ABA Championship. In capturing the crown, the Nets set a record for the fewest games played in the playoffs to capture a championship (14). Erving was named the 1974 ABA Most Valuable Player. Larry Kenon and John Williamson (signed as a free agent) are named to the All-Rookie team.

1974-75: Nets tie for first division championship, lose 1 game playoff to Kentucky
Final Record: 58-26 (.690)

The Nets posted their finest regular season record, finishing 58-26, but fall to the Spirits of St. Louis in just five games. The Nets had swept all 12 games from St. Louis during the regular season. Erving added to his personal accomplishments by setting a single-game scoring record and personal career high game with a 63 point performance in marathon four-overtime game in San Diego on February 14, as well as leading the team in scoring for the second year in a row with a 27.8 average. Following the playoffs, Kenon (June 3), Mike Gale (June 3) and Paultz (September 8) are traded in separate deals.

1975-76: Nets win final ABA Championship
Final Record: 55-29 (.655)

The Nets acquire Tim Bassett, Kim Hughes, Rich Jones and Jim Eakins. Dr. J again dominates all aspects of the game, averaging 29.3 points a game and recapturing the leagues scoring crown. He averaged 34.6 points a game in the playoffs and is named regular season and playoff MVP, Sporting News Player-of-the-Year, and Basketball Weekly's MVP of all the pro ranks. The Nets defeat the San Antonio Spurs in seven games and the heavily favored Denver Nuggets in six.

1976-77: Nets, Spurs, Nuggets and Pacers join the NBA; Erving sent to Philadelphia; Taylor to Kansas City; Nets obtain Tiny Archibald
Final Record: 22-60 (.268)

ABA and NBA merge on June 17. Julius Erving is sold to Philadelphia on October 20 in a contract dispute with the Nets. Brian Taylor and two first round draft picks sent to Kansas City in exchange for Archibald on September 10. John Williamson is traded to the Indiana Pacers on January 31 for a first round pick. Robert "Bubbles" Hawkins leads the Nets in scoring by averaging 19.3 points a game.

1977-78: Loughery signed to new long-term pact; Nets draft Bernard King in first round; franchise moves to New Jersey
Team Name: New Jersey Nets
Home Court: Rutgers Athletic Center, Piscataway, N.J.
Final Record: 24-58 (.293)

Franchise shifts its operation to New Jersey on September 12. Bernard King has spectacular rookie season, finishing with a 24.2 scoring average and 9.5 rebounds per game. Nets re-acquire John Williamson from Indiana on January 27 in exchange for Bob Carrington and two second round draft choices. New Jersey hires Charles Theokas as General Manager to replace Bill Melchionni who resigns at the end of the season.

1978-79: Nets sold to group of New Jersey businessmen; Team makes playoffs for first time in NBA
Final Record: 37-45 (.451)

A partnership headed by Joseph Taub and Alan Cohen purchase the franchise on August 28 and put it on solid financial ground. John Williamson (22.2 ppg) and Bernard King (21.6 ppg) finish among the NBA's top twenty in scoring. George Johnson finishes second in blocked shots (253), and Ed Jordan finishes second in steals (201) to lead the Nets into the playoffs for the first time in the NBA. New Jersey falls to Philadelphia in two games but shows great promise for the future.

1979-80: New Jersey trades Bernard King; Selects Calvin Natt and Cliff Robinson in NBA draft; Acquire Maurice Lucas and two first round picks for Natt in blockbuster trade
Final Record: 34-48 (.415)

Bernard King was traded to the Utah Jazz for Rich Kelley on October 2, moving Calvin Natt into the starting lineup. Natt sparkles and is eventually traded to Portland February 8 in exchange for Maurice Lucas and two first round picks. Williamson is traded to Washington for Roger Phegley on February 4 and Kelley is dealt to Phoenix February 15 for a 1982 first round pick. Cliff Robinson, after recovering from early season illness and injuries, begins to realize his potential. Mike Newlin, in his first year as a Net, enjoys his finest season as a pro, leading the team in scoring with a 20.9 average.

1980-81: New Jersey drafts Mike O'Koren and Mike Gminski ; Meadowlands Arena taking shape and will be Nets home for 1981 season; Kevin Loughery resigns and will be replaced by Larry Brown next season
Final Record: 24-58 (.293)

In New Jersey's last season at the Rutgers Athletic Center, Kevin Loughery, the Nets' coach for the past seven years, resigns in mid-December. Assistant Coach Bob MacKinnon replaces Loughery for the remainder of the season. Larry Brown is named head coach in March and will take over at season's end. Mike Newlin leads the team in scoring for the second straight year with 21.4 ppg. Rookies Mike Gminski and Darwin Cook finish among the leagues top rookies in scoring.

1981-82: New Jersey opens in Byrne Arena and host 1982 NBA All-Star Game; Acquire Otis Birdsong and Ray Williams; Draft All-American Buck Williams and Albert King; Nets finish with their best ever NBA record and make the playoffs.
Home Court: Brendan Byrne Arena, East Rutherford, N.J.
Final Record: 44-38 (.537)
Coach: Larry Brown

In his first season as head coach, Larry Brown guides New Jersey into the NBA playoffs after starting the season 3-12. Ray Williams, acquired from the Knicks October 25 for Maurice Lucas, leads the team in scoring at 20.4 ppg. Buck Williams is named Rookie-of-the-Year and is the first Net to appear in the NBA All-Star game. the 20 game won/loss difference from last year is the biggest turnaround of any team in the NBA while the average attendance of 13,875 is the fourth best mark in the league.

1982-83: Nets add charismatic center Darryl Dawkins to roster in August 27 trade with Philadelphia; Nets win team record 11 straight en route to 49 wins, also a team record; Larry Brown resigns as Head Coach
Final Record: 49-33 (.598)

The Nets begin the season with Phil Ford having replaced Ray Williams as point guard. Seven games into the season, Ford is traded for Mickey Johnson, whose fine all-around play leads the team to a franchise record 11 straight wins from December 23, 1982 to January 12, 1983. Johnson and '82 first round choice Sleepy Floyd are dealt to Golden State for guard Micheal Ray Richardson on February 6. The Nets go into their second straight playoff appearance hobbled by injuries and without coach Larry Brown, who left the team for the University of Kansas April 7 with six games to play. Under interim coach Bill Blair, the Nets go 2-4 and fall to the Knicks in two straight playoff games. Albert King and Buck Williams tie for the team scoring lead at 17 ppg.

1983-84: Stan Albeck takes over coaching duties; Nets make no trades for first time in NBA history, win 19 of 25 down the stretch and win first ever NBA Playoff Game and Series
Final Record: 45-37 (.549)
Coach: Stan Albeck

Albeck is named head coach June 8 and promises a Net playoff victory. Not only do the Nets win a game, but they eliminate defending World Champion Philadelphia 3 games to 2 before falling in six games to Milwaukee in the conference semi-finals. Darryl Dawkins makes his ninth NBA season his best, averaging 16.8 ppg and 6.7 rpg, while Buck Williams becomes only the ninth player ever to record 1,000 or more rebounds in his first three years. Otis Birdsong is named to the NBA all-star team and leads the club in scoring with a 19.8 average.

1984-85: Nets log incredible 223 games missed to injury; Team earns fourth consecutive playoff birth; Albeck resigns
Final Record: 42-40 (.512)

An amazing string of injuries sideline Dawkins for 43 games, King 40, O'Koren 39 and Birdsong 26, just to name a few. Despite the physical woes which led to 16 different rosters and 13 different starting lineups, Albeck guides the club to a winning record and a third place finish in the tough Atlantic Division. Richardson enjoys his best NBA campaign, making his fourth all-star appearance and becoming the first player to win three steals titles en route to being named "Comeback Player-of-the-Year." Williams leads the entire league in minutes played and becomes the eighth player and first forward to record 1,000 or more rebounds in each of his first four seasons. Albeck resigns June 13, 1985 to become head coach of the Chicago Bulls.

1985-86: Nets name Dave Wohl as their seventh Head Coach; Rookie mentor has Nets off and running before problems arise; Team finishes below .500 for first time in five years, but still make playoffs for fifth consecutive season
Final Record: 39-43 (.476)
Coach: Dave Wohl

A long search for a new coach produces hard working Dave Wohl, who immediately installs a running attack in New Jersey. Nets get out of gate quickly at 23-14 when Micheal Ray Richardson suffers a drug relapse. Richardson is banned from the league February 25 as a three-time violator of the NBA policy. Darryl Dawkins suffers a back injury and misses 31 of the last 32 games. Mike Gminski enjoys his best year leading the team in scoring and having a career night April 9, scoring 41 points and grabbing 22 rebounds in leading the club to a win over Boston. Buck Williams has another solid year and makes his third all-star appearance.

1986-87: Nets fail to make playoffs for first time in six years; Team logs franchise high 252 games lost to injury; Nets tie second worst NBA season record; Harry Weltman joins club in March as Basketball General Manager
Final Record: 24-58 (.293)

Dave Wohl entered the season with optimism, but team was struck with injuries. Darryl Dawkins went down with back pain after six games, Otis Birdsong was lost for the season after 13 games. Orlando Woolridge led the club in scoring with a 20.7 average, the first Net forward to average 20+ since 1978-79. Buck Williams just missed a team rebounding record and was the only Net to play in all 82 games. Harry Weltman joins the team to head basketball operations and Dave Wohl signs a contract extension.

1987-88: Nets set league mark with 346 games lost to injury; Acquire Roy Hinson, Keith Lee, John Bagley and Tim McCormick via trades; Name NBA Hall of Fame Center Willis Reed Head Coach
Final Record: 19-63 (.231)

The Nets sputter to a 2-13 start, leading to the release of head coach Dave Wohl December 9. Assistant General Manager Bob MacKinnon takes over injury-riddled squad on an interim basis as club begins an extensive search for a head coach. Nets ownership and management proudly name legendary center Willis Reed to lead Nets on February 29. Buck Williams misses his first ever pro game due to injury, yet leads the club in scoring, rebounding and field goal percentage. Attendance increases for the first time since franchise shift to Meadowlands in 1981.

1988-89: Willis Reed completes first full season as Head Coach and leads club to best record in two seasons; Club acquires Joe Barry Carroll, Les Conner and Mike McGee before season
Final Record: 26-56 (.317)
Coach: Willis Reed

With seven new faces, the Nets immediately jumped out to a 5-3 start and managed a .500 record through most of November before losing Joe Barry Carroll to injury, bringing on a six-game losing streak. The Nets post inspirational home victories over the Lakers, Celtics, Bulls and two wins over the Knicks. Roy Hinson leads the club in scoring while Buck Williams 9.4 rebound average is his first season with less than a double figure average. The Meadowlands is sold out five times while attendance increases for the second straight season.

1989-90: Willis Reed relinquishes head coaching duties to become Senior VP/Basketball Operations; Bill Fitch takes over as Head Coach; Buck Williams is traded for Sam Bowie; Mookie Blaylock is first round pick; GM Harry Weltman resigns following season
Coach: Bill Fitch

In August of 1989, Willis Reed moves to the front office as Bill Fitch takes over coaching duties. Prior to the coaching change, the Nets trade 8 year veteran Buck Williams to Portland for center Sam Bowie and the twelfth pick in the draft which they use to select point guard Mookie Blaylock. Bowie, after almost two years of inactivity due to leg problems, plays in 68 games and leads the team with 10.1 rebounds and 1.78 blocks a game. The Nets struggle throughout the season to their worst record in franchise history. Positives include holding the Celtics to a franchise low 78 points and an all-time low 6 points in one quarter. Harry Weltman resigns May 8, citing health and personal goals.

1990-91: Derrick Coleman, Number One overall pick in the 1990 Draft, wins Rookie-of-the-Year honors; Bill Fitch records career victory number 800; Drazen Petrovic and Terry Mills acquired via trade
Final Record: 26-56 (.317)

The Nets finish the season with five rookies on the roster, including Rookie-of-the-Year Derrick Coleman. Coleman led the Nets with 10.3 rebounds a game and was second in scoring with an 18.4 average. Reggie Theus, acquired from Orlando prior to the 1990 draft, led the team in scoring with 18.6 ppg and moved into the 22nd spot on the leagues all-time scoring list. Bill Fitch recorded win number 800 vs. Washington March 16, becoming the fourth winningest coach in league history (since passed by Lenny Wilkens). The Nets led the league in blocked shots with 600 while averaging 102.9 ppg and 45.7 rebounds a game.

The Nets and Philadelphia 76ers were involved in one of the strangest games in NBA history. In a contest that originally began November 8, 1978, the game was suspended due to an officials error. The game concluded on March 23, 1979. The strange part of the game was that in the period of time between the start of the game and the conclusion, New Jersey's Eric Money was traded to Philadelphia for Harvey Catchings and Ralph Simpson. Each of the three players had appeared in the original game and each participated for their new team in the conclusion of the contest. This may mark the only game in professional sports history when players appeared for both teams in the same contest. The Sixers won the game 137-133.

1991-92: Nets make playoffs for first time since '86; Kenny Anderson selected with the second overall pick in the 1991 Draft; Bill Fitch resigns May 12
Final Record: 40-42 (.488)

The Nets reach the playoffs for the first time since 1986, finishing the year as the sixth seed in the Eastern Conference. Cleveland defeats the Nets in four games in the first round. The Nets post their playoff win at home in front of a Meadowlands crowd of 15,258. Number one draft pick Kenny Anderson does not join the club until the fourth game of the season as the team struggles to a 2-11 start. The Nets were 7-18 in late December when the club began to turn things around, finishing with a 33-24 mark the rest of the year. The Nets were 21-14 after the all-star break, a .600 winning percentage in the second half. Drazen Petrovic participated in the three point shooting contest at All-Star Weekend, finishing fourth. For the season, Petrovic finished second in the league in three-point shooting at 44.4% (123-277). Petrovic led the team in scoring with a 20.6 average. Derrick Coleman averaged 9.5 rebounds and was second on the club in scoring at 19.8. In the playoffs, Petrovic again led the club in scoring at 24.3 points a game while Coleman added 22.3 ppg.

1992-93: NBA and Olympic Championship Coach Chuck Daly takes over Nets; Nets race out to 42-29 record before injury strikes; Nets battle Cleveland in five game Playoff series; Star guard Drazen Petrovic tragically killed in automobile accident
Final Record: 43-39 (.524)
Coach: Chuck Daly

Chuck Daly, who guided the Pistons to two World Championships and the United States to the 1992 Olympic Gold medal, took over the Nets and immediately made an impression on his young players. Daly had the Nets soaring with a 42-29 record in April, breathing down the necks of the first place Knicks. Starting point guard Kenny Anderson went down with a broken wrist and the Nets stumbled, finishing the season with a 1-10 spurt. The Nets battled the Cavs gamely in the playoffs , despite being without the services of Anderson and centers Sam Bowie and Chris Dudley. Derrick Coleman gave his all to handle Cleveland by himself, posting monster numbers throughout the series and laying claim to his position as one of the leagues best. Tragedy struck the Nets family in June, overshadowing the success of the season, when star shooting guard Drazen Petrovic was killed in an automobile accident on June 8 in Germany. Petro had given the Nets another wonderful year. His death left the Nets with an enormous hole to fill, both on the court and in their hearts.

1993-94: Nets rally after difficult start to post clubs second best NBA mark; Playoff bound for the third straight season; Anderson and Coleman become first Nets to start NBA All-Star Game; Daly calls it a career in June
Final Record: 45-37(.549)

The Nets opened the season with many new faces and struggled out of the gate as they stood at 13-20 on January 13. A season high 5 game winning streak followed as New Jersey was one of the hottest teams in the NBA the rest of the season. Kenny Anderson and Derrick Coleman became the first Nets ever elected to start in the NBA All-Star game which took place in Minneapolis. Joining them in the Twin Cities was rookie P.J. Brown, selected to play in the first ever Schick Rookie All-Star Game. New Jersey fell in the first round of the playoffs to eventual NBA Finalist and cross river rival New York 3 games to 1. The Nets won 4 of the 5 regular season meetings between the clubs. Head Coach Chuck Daly, who had been inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame during the season, retired from coaching in June to pursue a broadcasting career with both the Nets and TBS.

BACK-TO-BACK

Several New Jersey players have had spectacular back-to-back games in different statistical categories.

On April 2, 1978, John Williamson scored 40 points in a game at Atlanta which he followed up on April 4 with a 50 point explosion at Indiana.

In a game at Indiana on February 13, 1980, Ed Jordan had eight steals which he followed up the next night by recording eight thefts vs. Utah.

Buck Williams had two 20 plus rebound nights against Detroit on January 18 and 21, 1984, grabbing 20 and 21 rebounds respectively.

Kenny Anderson continued the tradition of strong back-to-back performances in 92-93 by handing out a season high 17 assists on December 4, 1992 in an overtime win vs. San Antonio and backing that up by dishing off 16 assists the next night against Miami.

NOTES

1. When a draft choice is mentioned, the player eventually selected either by the Nets or by the team that finally wound up with that draft choice is shown in parenthesis.

2. In trades, only what actually happened is listed. If a team had several options in a deal, only the one they decided to use is listed.

3. If a third team is not mentioned in the transaction, then assume any draft pick is the choice of the team the Nets are trading with or the Nets choice.

Nets All-Time Attendance

The 1994-95 season saw the Nets continue their recent trend of attendance increases which led to the club breaking their all-time attendance record for the third consecutive year. On the way to setting that mark, the Nets sold out Meadowlands Arena 16 times in the regular season and saw their average attendance increase by over 600 fans per game.

NBA Playoff Format

1. Sixteen teams qualify for the playoffs: Eight teams from each conference, consisting of the two division champions and the six other teams in each conference with the best winning percentange during the regular season.

2. The first round of the playoffs shall be a best-of-five series with all succeeding rounds, including the NBA World Championship Series, being best-of-seven. All teams will participate in the first round; byes that formerly went to division winners have been eliminated.

Following are the playoff pairings:

Note: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the better record, Team 2 is the other division winner and Teams 3-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

NBA Playoff Tie-Breaking Procedures

Two-Way Tie

In order to break a tie for playoff positions, if one exists at the close of the regular season, the following criteria will be utilized in the order set forth:

1. Results of games against each other.
2. Better winning percentage within own conference.
3. Better winning percentage within own division (only if tied teams are in the same division).
4. Better winning percentage against playoff opponents in own conference.
5. Point differential in games against each other.
6. Better point differential between offense and defense.

More Than Two Teams Tied

1. Best cumulative winning percentage in total games involving all teams tied.
2. Best winning percentage within own conference.
3. Best winning percentage within own division (only if tied teams are in same division).
4. Best winning percentage against playoff opponents in own conference.
5. Best point differential between offense and defense.

If a multiple team tie is reduced to a two-team tie at any point using the above criteria, the two-team tie will be resolved in accordance with the existing two-team tie procedure.

Nets vs. Hawks in 94-95

HAWKS 94, NETS 91 (OT)

at New Jersey, 12/06/94 (Game 19, 7-12)

A last second breakaway layup by Craig Ehlo handed the Nets their third consecutive home defeat as the Atlanta Hawks defeated the Nets in overtime 94-91.....New Jersey led by five at the half 51-46, but the Nets scored only 34 points in the second half.....Atlanta had opened up a 4 point lead after three quarters by holding the Nets to only 16 points in the frame.....Despite scoring only 18 points of their own in the fourth, the Nets held the Hawks to 14 points and sent game into overtime.....Only three Nets scored in double figures and Net reserves were outscored 34-23.

	1	2	3	4	OT	Final
Atlanta ...	23	23	25	14	9	94
Nets	26	25	16	18	6	91

HAWKS 102, NETS 85

at Atlanta, 1/7/95 (Game 35, 13-22)

The Nets saw a four point halftime lead disappear in the third quarter before Atlanta broke open a close game in the fourth quarter and blew the Nets out 102-85.....The Nets trailed by 3 entering the fourth quarter before a 16-4 Atlanta run to open the fourth broke the game open.....The Nets were without Kenny Anderson who missed his second straight game with the flu.....Only three Nets scored in double-figures in the contest as the Nets shot 37% from the field and hit only 28 field goals....The Nets turned the ball over 20 times for 30 Atlanta points while converting only 8 points off 10 Atlanta turnovers.

	1	2	3	4	Final
Atlanta	26	14	26	36	102
Nets	21	23	19	22	85

HAWKS 111, NETS 88

at Atlanta, 2/8/95 (Game 50, 19-31)

The Nets wrapped up their pre all-star break schedule once again shorthanded and finished the game even more so as they fell at Atlanta 111-88 ....New Jersey was again without stars Derrick Coleman and Kenny Anderson and finished the game without the services of Jayson Williams and coach Butch Beard after each had been ejected in the third quarter.....Atlanta relied on long range shooting to beat the Nets as they Hawks tied an oppenent season high by hitting 11 three's on an opponent season high 25 attempts.

	1	2	3	4	Final
Atlanta	34	22	30	25	111
Nets	24	25	22	17	88

Nets vs. Mavericks in 94-95

MAVERICKS 112, NETS 103

at Dallas, 11/5/94 (Game 2, 0-2)

The Nets were outrebounded 22-11 on the offensive end and Dallas was able to score all night in the paint as the Mavericks beat the Nets in the home opener for Dallas 112-103.....The were outrebounded 54-37 and could not get the lead in the contest after the 8:23 mark of the first period.....Jamal Mashburn had 17 points for Dallas in the first quarter as the Mavs jumped out to a 37-32 lead and never looked back, building the lead to as many as 16 points in the second half....Rookie Jason Kidd fell one rebound short of a triple-double in his debut for Dallas.....Dallas was able to turn offensive rebounds into second chance points all night as the Nets closed the gap to seven late in the third quarter but could get no closer to Dallas than eight points behind in the fourth....Unusual play of the night was a Rex Walters four-point play with 5:15 left in the third when he was fouled while making a three-pointer and made his free throw.

Nets vs. Nuggets in 94-95

NUGGETS 96, NETS 90

at Denver, 1/27/95 (Game 44, 16-28)

The Nets dropped another close game, this one at the hands of the Denver Nuggets last night 96-90.....The Nets had difficulty shooting throughout the night as they scored only 39 points in the first half.....New Jersey started strong and led by 6 late in the first quarter before a 13-0 Nugget run from 5:52 to 2:06 gave Denver a 7 point lead.....The Nuggets built their lead to as many as 14 in the second quarter.....New Jersey cut the Nugget lead to 4 with 7:25 left in the contest as they opened the fourth quarter with a 16-9 run, but Denver went on an 11-3 run over the next 2:15 to build their lead to 12.....New Jersey did not quit, despite the fact that Kenny Anderson was forced to leave the game with 4:01 left with a bruised left forearm....Back to back buckets by Chris Morris, one a three-pointer, cut the margin to 4 with 1:11 left.....Dale Ellis hit a jumper with 49.9 seconds left and the shot clock running down to give the Nuggets a 6 point lead that would hold up.

PACERS 113, NETS 94

at New Jersey, 2/22/95 (Game 54, 21-33)

The Nets fell behind early and never got back in the game as Indiana hit an opponents season high 57.9% of their shots from the field.....Indiana rode the hot hand of Reggie Miller early and often as he scored 13 first quarter points.....New Jersey trailed by as many as 17 in the second quarter but went to the locker room down 10 after Chris Childs hit a last second three-pointer.....The Nets got as close as 7 twice in the third quarter, the last time coming with 5:30 left in the frame.....Reggie Miller hit back-to-back three's at that point to put the game away.

Nets vs. Clippers in 94-95

NETS 98, CLIPPERS 97

at New Jersey, 11/20/94 (Game 10, 4-6)

The Nets needed a last second fast break to hold off a game Clippers squad to win for the fourth straight time at the Meadowlands.....The Clippers led for a majority of the game as they took 102 shots to just 73 for the Nets.....The Clippers biggest lead in the contest was 15 while the Nets never led by more than 1.....The Nets led only once in the contest prior to the fourth quarter.....The Clippers got out to a 14-2 start.....The Nets trailed by 3 with 1:11 left in the contest before two Kevin Edwards free throws and an Armon Gilliam slam dunk closed out the scoring.....The Nets won the game at the line, hitting 27 shots from the charity stripe to 7 for Los Angeles.....Nets won the battle on the boards 50-46, but were outdone on the offensive glass 22-16.

Nets vs. Timberwolves in 94-95

TIMBERWOLVES 94, NETS 93

at Minnesota, 12/16/94 (Game 24, 9-15)

The clock once again was the enemy of the Nets as they followed up their heartbreaking double-OT loss to Cleveland with a setback at Minnesota that was not settled until the final.....The Nets led 93-91 with 5.8 seconds left when Isaiah Rider drove the lane for the tying hoop with 2.0 seconds left and converted his free-throw for a three-point play.... Minnesota came out firing, opening a 16 point lead in the first quarter as the Nets scored only 6 points in the first 7:46 of the contest.....New Jersey battled to trail by only 1 at the half.... The Nets came out quickly in the second half and opened up a 6 point lead less than two minutes into the third quarter.....The lead changed 5 times in the fourth quarter and the Nets appeared to have the game in control when Chris Morris hit a three-pointer with 28.4 seconds left to give New Jersey a one point lead.....The Net defense held Minnesota and Kenny Anderson had the ball with 5.8 left on the clock when he was fouled and converted one of two free throws for a two point advantage before Rider's heroics.

Nets vs. Blazers in 94-95

NETS 99, BLAZERS 98

at Portland, 1/30/95 (Game 46, 17-29)

The Nets wrapped up their five game west coast swing as it began as they got a last second bucket from Chris Morris and survived the final ticks of the clock to win.....The Nets had not won at Portland since 1984 and had lost four straight to the Blazers..... New Jersey went into the final stanza with an 11 point advantage.....A 12-5 Blazer run to open the fourth cut the Net lead to 4 with 8:58 left in the contest....The teams traded baskets until the 2:44 mark when Portland tied the contest at 93....The Blazers went ahead for the first time since the second quarter at 96-94 with 2:09 left and led by a point at 97-96 with 54.8 seconds remaining.....Chris Morris connected on 1 of 2 free throws to tie the game at 97 and followed a Net with a 19 foot jumper with 4.7 seconds left to give the Nets the lead at 99-97.....Rod Strickland drew a foul in the lane with 1.6 seconds left but hit only 1 of 2 free throws.

Miscellaneous Information

Background: Toronto was one of the founding members of the NBA (then the BAA). On November 1, 1946, the Toronto Huskies played the New York Knicks at Toronto in the first game ever played in the NBA. Player/Coach Ed Sadowski of the Huskies was the games high scorer with 18 points. The Huskies, within a span of two weeks in 1946, had four coaches.

The Raptors will play in the Central Division. Toronto joins Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and Washington as inaugural NBA cities who have regained their pro teams.

JAZZ 111, NETS 94

at Utah, 1/28/95 (Game 45, 16-29)

The Nets dropped their third straight in the fourth game of their west coast swing, falling to the hot Utah Jazz who put together a big second half to pull away from New Jersey.....The Nets led by as many as 10 in the first quarter as they hit 50% of their shots from the field and all 8 of their free throws to go into the second quarter with a 9 point lead.....Chris Morris and Chris Childs, the starting backcourt in the absence of Kenny Anderson, combined for 22 of the Nets 30 first quarter points.....Utah scored the first 8 points of the second quarter to cut the lead to 1 before tying the game at 39.....The Jazz, who hit an amazing 77% of their shots in the second quarter, could not pull away from the Nets until the final minute of the half as they scored six points in the last minute on two three-pointers and led by 5 at the break.....It was all Utah at the outset of the third quarter as they scored 14 of the first 16 points in the frame and built a 17 point lead with 7:23 left which the Nets could cut no further than 12 the rest of the way as they went to the final frame down 13.

JAZZ 103, NETS 98

at New Jersey, 3/17/95 (Game 64, 26-38)

A fourth quarter rally by the Nets came up short as the Utah defeated the Nets 103-98.....The game went down to the wire as the Nets cut what was a 10 point lead with 2:28 left in the contest to three points with 58.7 seconds left before a costly turnover with 32.3 seconds on the clock put the game away for Utah.....It was a foul plagued contest as there were 7 technicals called while four Nets finished with 5 personals.....The Nets led 24-23 after a seesaw first quarter but were outscored 25-19 in the second quarter as the Jazz went to the locker room with a 5 point advantage.....Utah got their lead as high as 10 in the third quarter before settling for an 8 point bulge going into the final stanza.....The Jazz got the lead up to 14 with 7:25 left in the game as they held the Nets to only 6 points in the first 5 minutes of the fourth, but the Nets battled back with good defense to cut the gap to 3.....New Jersey stayed in the game by dominating the boards as they outrebounded the Jazz 54-39, including 26 offensive boards....Nets struggled at the line, hitting 68%.

Nets vs. Bullets in 94-95

BULLETS 104, NETS 91

at Washington, 11/11/94 (Game 5, 1-4)

Road woes continued for the Nets as they lost for the fourth time in row.....Washington began to pull away from the Nets in the second quarter when the Nets hit just 7 of 26 shots from the field, 27%, and Washington built an 11 point halftime lead..... New Jersey closed the gap to five late in the third quarter, but a 21-8 run from 11:42 to 5:34 of the fourth built an 18 point Bullet advantage and put the game out of reach.

Guide to NBA Personnel Procedures

ACTIVE LIST: A team must carry a minimum of 11, and no more than 12, players on its active roster. At no time shall a team be permitted to dress fewer than eight players for a regular season game or nine for a playoff game. During the offseason and training camp, teams may carry no more than 20 active players.

INJURED LIST: Any player placed on the injured list due to injury or illness, must sit out at least five of his team's regular-season games before he may be restored to the active list. For players injured near the end of the season, the rule is to mean the players must sit out five games or as many games as remain in the regular season.

TRADING DEADLINE: No trades or sales among teams are permitted after 9:00 p.m. eastern time, February 22. From that point to the end of the regular season, player additions can be made through the waiver procedure or by acquiring free agents.

WAIVERS: From August 15 to the end of the regular season, clubs may claim waived players within 48 hours after notice. Players waived at any other time may be claimed within 10 days. if no teams claim the waived player, he becomes a free agent. If more than one club claims a waived player, the one with the lesser record at that time claims the player. The waiver price shall be $1,000 per player payable to the League Office.

TEN-DAY CONTRACT: On or after the 55th day following the season's first game, a team may sign a player to a 10-day contract solely for the purpose of replacing an injured player. No player may be signed to more than two 10-day agreements by a single team in the same season.

GUARANTEED CONTRACT DATE: On the 56th day of the regular season, all player contracts become guaranteed for the remainder of the season.

AMATEUR ELIGIBILITY RENUNCIATION: A player whose high school class has graduated shall become eligible for the college draft if he renounces his intercollegiate basketball eligibility by written notice to the NBA at least 45 days prior to the draft. Prior to 45 days before the draft, teams may not make direct or indirect contact with players who have eligibility left. Clubs may contact players without remaining eligibility, but may not discuss compensation.

TRADING OF FIRST DRAFT CHOICES: No team may sell or trade its right to select a player in the first round of the college draft if the result of such an exchange would be to leave the club without first-round picks in any two consecutive college drafts.

PRE-DRAFT CAMPS: Prior to the college draft, teams are prohibited from conducting so-called "mini-camps" for prospective players eligible for the draft.

SALARY CAP: The league salary cap is based on players receiving 53% of gross revenues. The 1995-96 salary cap is $23,000,000.

YOUR BEST DEFENSE AGAINST PROSTATE CANCER IS A GREAT OFFENSE.

Early detection through a prostate screening offers the best shot of beating prostate cancer. As a matter of fact, it increases the 5-year survival rate of 74 percent to 88 percent for patients whose cancer is diagnosed and treated before it has spread beyond the prostate. Did you know that approximately one out of every ten men will develop prostate cancer? Knowing these facts, and if you're over 40 years of age, the American Cancer Society recommends an annual digital rectal examination. And if you're over 50, an annual prostate-specific antigen blood testing is suggested as well.

NBA Community Relations

The NBA, its teams, players and coaches share a commitment to supporting and improving the quality of life in their for all people.

For years, the NBA has created and implemented programs league-wide to address important social issues, with special emphasis on helping young people.

This year's youth-based education programs will include: the NBA Stay in School program, created to encourage students to graduate from high school through school visits by NBA players and coaches; and conflict resolution workshops designed to train teachers and educate students in methods to resolve conflict without resorting to violence. Public service announcement and educational materials will also focus on anti-violence/ conflict resolution message.

The NBA continues its support of CARE, the National Committee to Prevent Child Abuse and Special Olympics through television and other awareness-building efforts. The NBA also creates PSA's in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and Black History Month each year.

In addition, the NBA's 29 teams are making a difference across the United States and Canada, through active involvement in a multitude of outreach efforts pertinent to the needs of their respective communities.

Nets in the Community

The Nets continue to take an active role in the community, working with a variety of charitable organizations throughout the year.

The Nets and Bell Atlantic Mobil teammed last year to present their first Stay In School Jam, an event at the Meadowlands Arena that rewarded over 10,000 middle school students for their academic achievements throughout the year. Nets players and celebrities were on hand to cheer and entertain the students.

The Nets and Pru Care are proud to be involved in a Feed the Hungry program which takes place throughout the year at the Lighthouse Community Center in Newark. Nets players and staff, along with Pru Care, have provided meals, entertainment and gifts during the holiday season.

Nets Speakers Bureau

Last year, the Nets created the Nets Speakers Bureau, a program designed to provide metropolitan area groups with a presentation to fit their particular needs, without costing them any money.

Nets Radio Network Analyst Mike O'Koren is the focal point of a program that has also included Ian Eagle, Willis Reed and other Nets staff.

Nets speakers have attended several hundred different functions over the last year speaking on topics ranging from education to drug and alcohol awareness to basketball skills. The program is coordinated by Nets Radio Executive Producer Amy Scheer. More information can be obtained by contacting her at the Nets office.

Pre-Season Information and 1995 Pre-Season Results

Keystone Arena on the campus of Kutztown University will be home to the New Jersey Nets training camp in 1995 for the first time.

As always, the Nets appreciate the coverage provided the team by the media and look forward to working with you this year.

The following guidelines will be enforced during all practice sessions at Keystone Arena:

A. All interviews will be conducted after practice sessions. The only exceptions tolerated will be after prior clearance from the Nets Public Relations department.

B. Following Media Day, all practices will be closed to the public and the media, with the exception of Wednesday night's scrimmage.

C. Please call the Nets office to verify practice times, as sessions are always subject to change at a moments notice.

For further information or special requests, please contact John Mertz or Christy Calvin in the Nets Public Relations department.

Nets Officers

ALAN AUFZIEN
Chairman of the Board
Chief Executive Officer

DAVID B. GERSTEIN
Vice Chairman of the Board &
Treasurer

JERRY L. COHEN
Vice Chairman of the Board &
Secretary

Jim Lampariello
Executive Vice President

Jim Lampariello enters his fourteenth season with the Nets in his new role as Chief Operating Officer of the club.

Lampariello, who has held many positions with the Nets, is responsible for all day-to-day operations of the club and has his finger on the pulse of everything related with running a National Basketball Association franchise. Lampariello is responsible for all business aspects of the club including marketing, ticket sales, box office operation, public relations and everything else that goes into putting an NBA product on the floor.

Lampariello started with the Nets in 1981 when he served as Director of Public Relations. Prior to joining the club he spent time at Rutgers and Seton Hall universities in the public relations department of each school. Jim has also been on the other side of the media coin, working as a reporter for both WOR Radio and the Morristown Daily Record.

Lampariello has many memories of his time with the Nets, but lists the 1983-84 playoff win over Philadelphia and the emoiton filled retirement ceremonies of the jerseys of Julius Erving and Drazen Petrovic as his most vivid.

He continues to take an active role in the community, including involvement in a number of charities. A member of the Board of Directors of both Easter Seals and the Valerie Fund, Lampariello works on clinics for youth, drug and alcohol awareness and special events.

The graduate of Seton Hall was inducted into his alma maters Hall of Fame in 1991. Other honors have been an NBA Authentics Award of Excellence, the Owen Keefe Trophy during Seton Hall's Final Four Season and a special award from the Big East Conference for its first decade. Lampariello and his wife Maureen have three children: John, Michael and Jimmy.

Ray Schaetzle
Senior Vice President
Finance/Controller

Ray Schaetzle has had his finger on the pulse of professional sports in New Jersey for some time. For the last nine years, Schaetzle has kept a watchful eye on the financial aspects of the club and currently serves as Senior Vice President of Finance/Controller.

Prior to assuming his position with the Nets, Schaetzle was Vice President of Finance for the New Jersey Generals of the USFL and was very involved in the deals that brought Herschel Walker and Doug Flutie to Donald Trump's team. He also worked with Trump in various real estate and casino ventures.

Schaetzle is the man with his eyes on the cap at the Nets as he works closely with General Manager Willis Reed to assure the Nets are withing the NBA Salary Cap guidelines. Schaetzle is kept very busy analyzing the financial aspects of any player move considered by the club.

Schaetzle, a Jersey City native and graduate of St. Peter's College, is active in many charities and is a board member of Cancer Care and the Valerie Fund. In addition to his busy work and charitable schedule, Schaetzle still finds time to hone his well respected whiffle ball game. He and his wife Donna make their home in Rutherford.

Lou Terminello
Vice President
Sponsor Sales

Lou Terminello is a man who knows where he wants to be. For 15 years, where he has wanted to be is with the New Jersey Nets and he says that time is the most enjoyable of his life. Terminello is one of the Nets franchise players, having worked in all areas of the operation including ticket sales, group sales, promotions and customer service on his way to his current role. His primary responsibility with the club, in addition to being one of their most rabid fans, is to develop packages for the teams corporate partners. The Hoboken native and Fairleigh Dickinson graduate spent time as a disc jockey before coming to the Nets. His passions include reading and cheering for the Nets, Jets and Mets. His happiest day will come when he sees the Nets win the NBA Championship.

Bob Moran
Vice President
Sponsor Services

Bob Moran provides the Nets with another seasoned veteran in the front office. Moran is entering his 14th season in the New Jersey front office and has enjoyed the clubs trend of growth and success. Moran and his staff are responsible for servicing the clubs corporate partners. He can be seen orchestrating the Nets many youth clinics, assuring game night giveaways gets in the right hands and generally assuring that things go smoothly off the court. Moran is a sports lifer, having spent time in baseball and soccer before coming to the Nets. His hobbies include bike riding and all outdoor sports. He and his wife of over 20 years have a daughter, Kelly.

Brett Yormark
Vice President
Sponsor Programs

Brett Yormark enters his second season as a Vice President with the club. Yormark returned to the Nets last year after succesful stints at Katz Communications and with the Detroit Pistons. Prior to holding positions with those two groups, Yormark had spent two years working in various sales capacities with the Nets. While with the Pistons, Yormark earned a reputation for success in the area sponsorship sales for both the Pistons and the Palace of Auburn Hills. The Morristown native attended high school in his hometown before graduating from Indiana University. He is single and enjoys golf and all sports.

Rob Chibbaro
Director of Ticket Sales

Rob enters his fifth season with the Nets in a new role, overseeing the Nets many ticket sales programs and the clubs expansive sales staff. The Princeton native has worked his way up the Nets corporate ladder, serving as an account executive and team leader before assuming his new role this summer. Chibbaro was a standout basketball player at Princeton Day School before taking his talents to the University of Delaware where he graduating with a degree in Political Science. The East Rutherford resident is single and enjoys playing basketball and coaching youth teams.

Nets MEDIA

Media Information

The New Jersey Nets appreciate the cooperation and coverage given the club and looks forward to their nineteenth season in the NBA, and fifteenth at the Meadowlands.

Nets media credentials are issued for the purpose of providing access to locker rooms, working rooms and the press lounge, and in most cases, courtside seating. Credentials must be visible at all times. At no time should a credential be used for access to a locker room for autographs.

Season credentials will be issued to recognized daily newspapers, radio and television stations that plan to cover all Nets home games and who make a reasonable request on company stationary.

Individual game credentials should be requested a minimum of 24 hours prior to game time (Friday noon for weekend contests). These passes may be picked up two (2) hours prior to game time at the press window located in the main ticket lobby of the arena.

Single game photo passes will be issued in the same manner as other credentials. Weekly papers and magazines on assignment may obtain passes by having the photo editor request a single game credential either in writing or on the phone. Free lance photographers requesting credentials must submit a letter with a specific assignment from a publication.

Limitations and guidlines for credential use appear on the back of your credential and on signs in the press room. Please adhere to these regulations.

The media room is located on the court level, downstairs from the main ticket lobby. No guests are allowed in the press room. It is for working media only.

Nets and visitors locker rooms are located on the court level on the same side of the arena as the press room. In accordance with NBA policy, it will be open to members of the media for a 45 minute period which will conclude 45 minutes prior to game time, and ten minutes after the conclusion of the game.

Parking passes are given to season credential holders only. Parking passes for visiting media are available by calling the Nets Public Relations Department 48 hours prior to the scheduled game.

Game Notes, line-ups, scoring sheets and current program inserts will be available in the press room two (2) hours prior to game time. Programs will be available on a limited basis. Play-by-play sheets and half-time and final boxes will be delivered to all press at the table and in the press room. Telecopier service is available by contacting the Public Relations Department.

Special requests and additional information can be gained by contacting John Mertz or Kevin Mortesen at the Nets office, 201-935-8888 or by FAX at 201-935-1088.

Ian Eagle

SportsChannel and NewSport will again broadcast 70 of the Nets 82 regular season games.

Heading up SportsChannel broadcasts for the first year will be Ian Eagle, who moves over from the Nets Radio Network to take over play-by-play duties on the television side with analyst Bill Raftery.

Eagle spent one season at the microphone with the Nets Radio Network and brings an impressive resume to SportsChannel. In addition to his duties with the Nets, Eagle is the host of New York Jets pre and post-game programs on WFAN, has called the action of the NBA Finals for NBA International Television and is the voice of NBA Action.

Bill Raftery

Raftery, the former Seton Hall head coach, is recognized as one of the top analysts in the business. In addition to his work with the Nets, Raftery can be found on college campuses throughout the country as part of his role as a top analyst for NCAA basketball broadcasts on CBS.

SportsChannel

Jim Spanarkel

Steve Danz

In addition to Eagle and Raftery, Nets broadcasts feature a talented team. Mike Harris can be found on the sidelines and in the studio at Nets games, providing in-game information and keeping fans up to date with pre and post-game shows.

When Raftery's CBS duties take him away from the Nets, former NBA player Jim Spanarkel ably fills the SportsChannel analyst seat. Behind the scenes, Steve Danz and Dave Hagen call the shots from the truck.

SportsChannel

New Jersey Nets Radio Network

Mike O'Koren

The expanded New Jersey Nets Radio Network takes to the airwaves with more listeners than ever in reach. Anchored by flagship stations WQEW 1560 AM and WPAT 930 AM, the network now includes stations from across the Garden State.

Mike O'Koren returns for his sixth season as the full time analyst on Nets Radio Broadcasts and brings the knowledge of a former player to the broadcast. O'Koren spent seven years with the Nets as a player and averaged 8.5 points a game.

O'Koren also remains very busy as the focal point of the Nets Speakers Bureau. Over the past year, O'Koren has visited with literally hundreds of groups speaking on education, drug and alcohol awareness and basketball skills. Nets Speakers Bureau visits are free to eligible organizations.

With Ian Eagle moving from the Nets Radio Network play-by-play spot to the same position with SportsChannel, O'Koren will be working with a new partner this season.
